Meet Julie

Julie Davidson, President and CEO of The JD Group, is a certified coach, facilitator, and consultant who builds customized and sustainable leadership development programs for organizations. Her company's mission is to collaboratively create programs that provide opportunities for reflection, recognition, learning, and transformation.

Is this you?

My ideal client is looking for a way to better support their mid-level and C-suite leadership. They long to go beyond "flavor of the month" trainings and to provide opportunities for deeper introspection, learning, and growth. They are willing to invest in 1-on-1 as well as group/team learning. The high-touch, customized coaching and leadership development programs that my team develops and delivers are scalable from one executive director, to entire departments, boards, or organizations.

Client Accolades

“engaging”

Thank you many times over for your commitment to leadership coaching. I employ many of the tools that you exposed me to on a daily basis and find they are so useful in helping me get through my current challenge and growing my self-confidence.

—Tonisha Toler,
The Collins Foundation

Julie facilitated a fun and safe environment for our group. She created a thought-provoking atmosphere and reminded us to reflect and celebrate our accomplishments.
